ADYTUM

GRANVILLE · OHIO

One year

two years

three years

four years.

And then they are gone,

Gone in the smoke of a forgotten cigarette,

Gone in the echo of the chapel bells,

Gone before we know.

But while they are, they are!

More fierce, more rapid, more intense

Than other years, they pass—

And it is this elusive passing

That we must capture and preserve

Forever in this ADYTUM, this Inner Sanctum

Where even time stands still.

The rhythm of our days,

The pattern of our lives,

The turning of the seasons,

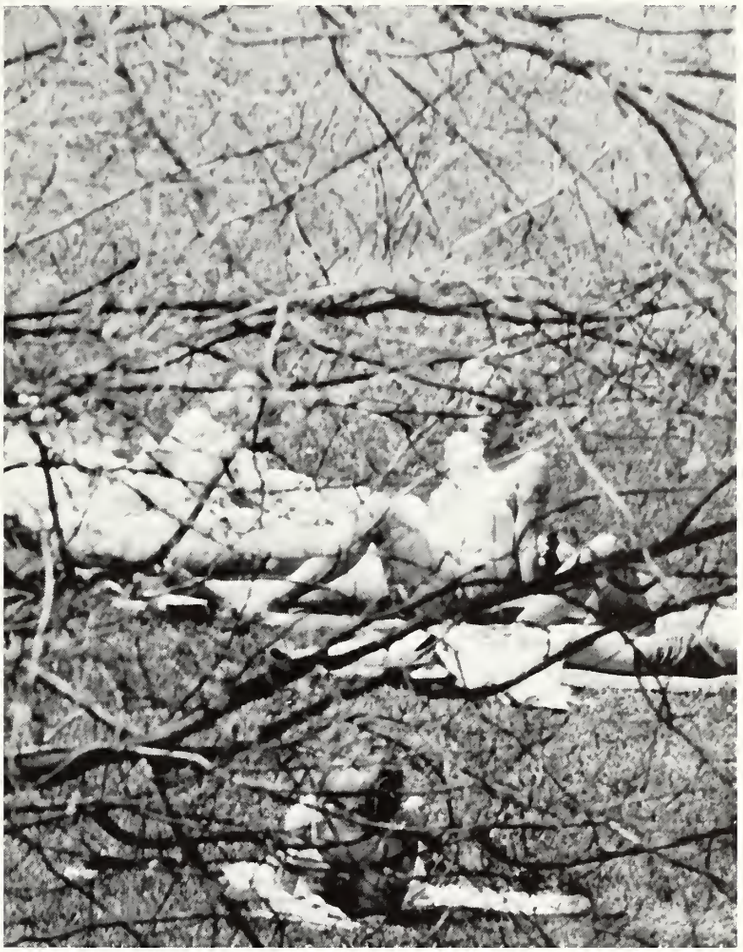

Are here, and here to stay—

Wherever the passing time may take us

Throughout the rolling years.

What is a clock but man's attempt to concretize the fluid dimension of time? In its moving hands we somehow feel that we can see the moments flying, and we pattern our lives to fit into the framework of its numerals. Though second hands and chapel bells dole out our time in chunks, they cannot stop the rhythm of its passing.

Mail time, snack time, study time, punt time—all these are Union times, as students are drawn from all corners of the campus to the throbbing center, to where the action is. Morning finds the mailboxes jammed with jostling hopefuls; noon fills the snackbar to overflowing. The long afternoons give time for bookstore browsing and fourth floor snoozing; and evening brings Slayter to life once more, with promises of convo credit, and assorted Nights-at-the-Movies.

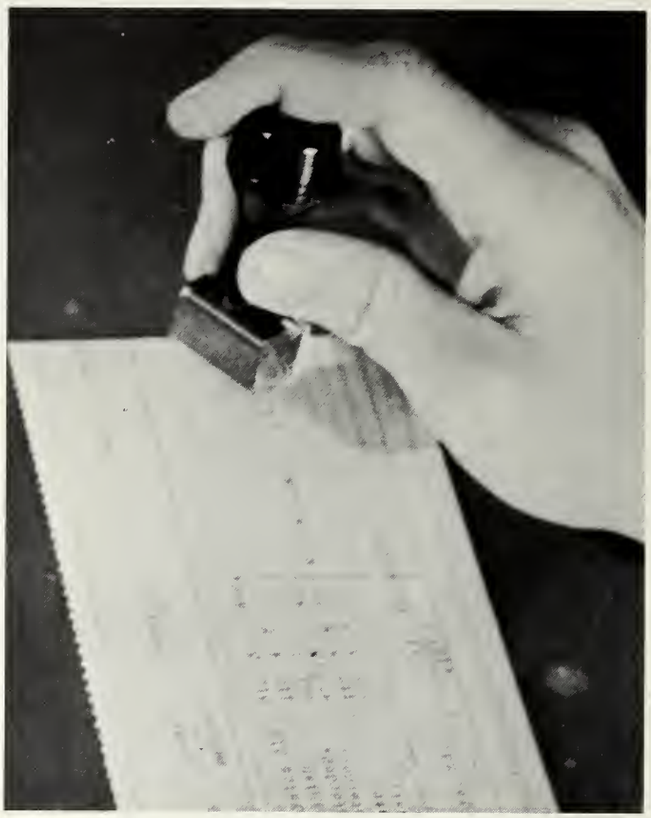

And so it begins: Registration Day. New books and old familiar faces . . . long lines and big foul-ups . . . excitement . . . and at day's end your little square of c a r d b oard—your next four months in miniature.

"Hold that tiger,
Hold that tiger"

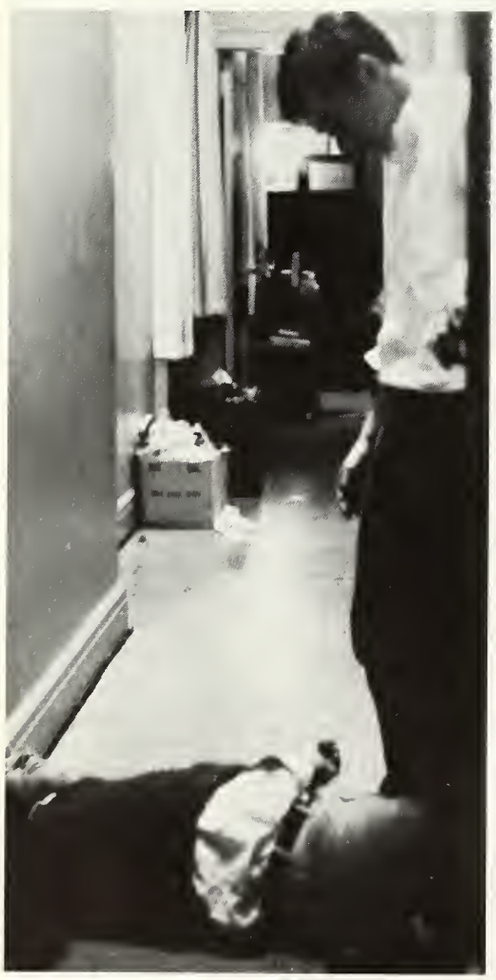

There is nothing like a dame, especially a Denison dame, and above all a dorm full of Denison dames. Dorm life provides for telephone talkathons, serious dramatizations of Hawthorne, and solving problems in applied physics (two books cannot occupy the same shelf space at the same time). Yes, the Denison woman has many faces, but she reserves one especially for early morning fire drills. Perhaps its a good thing she does.

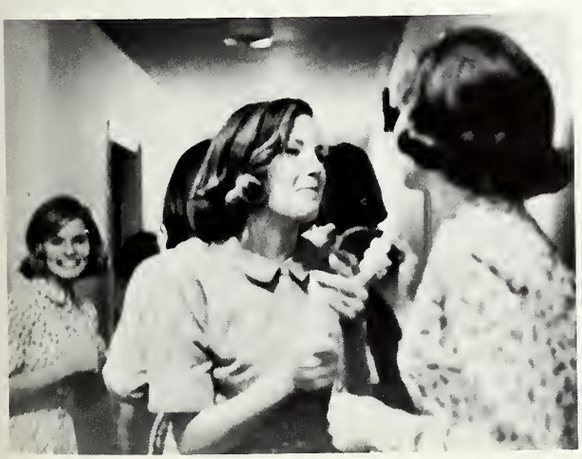

That certain week again, although there seems to be some confusion about its spelling at times. The last taste of pledgeship may seem the bitterest, but even this week has its Inspirational moments (see below, right). Yet even this passes, and a hot Hell Week gives way to a snowy Initiation Day. Also shown are the pre-Pledging Ritual, and the Huffman's Hermits giving their nightly performance of "Walk, Don't Run" to an admiring audience.

ΣΧ

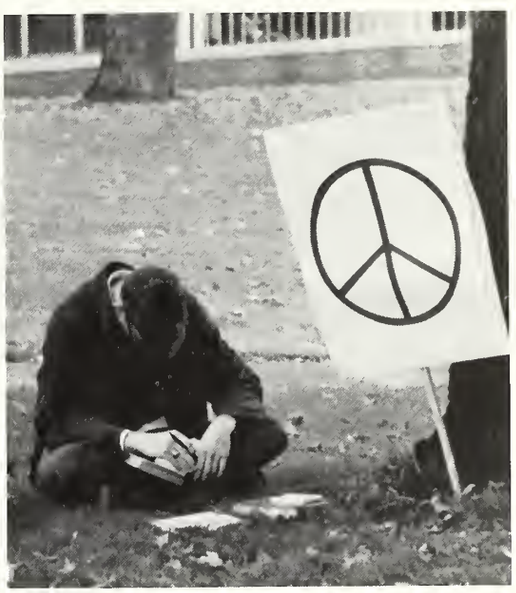

Freedom of thought, freedom of expression—these are part of campus life. Here Mr. Missey and company present their views on Viet Nam.

Even the downpour couldn't dampen Denison spirits as the Big Red rolled on to victory over the Wooster Scots. Alums appeared everywhere, and lovely Queen Nancy Samson reigned over the soggy festivities.

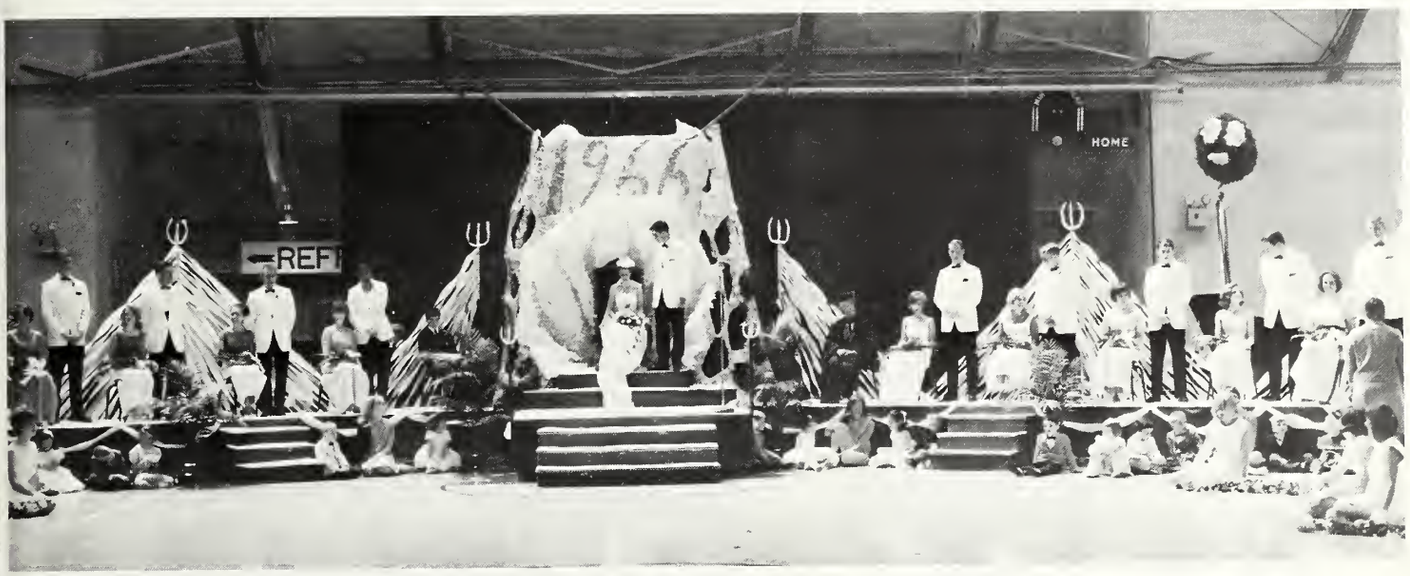

Come October, come May, and come Dad and Mom to Denison, to be wined (?) and dined, to check out their investment, and to bring a welcome touch of home and hearth to campus.

The annual Bonds Drive is on. In order to raise funds for such causes as foreign student scholarships, local institutions, and CARE, the Tri Delts shovel ice cream, the ATO's and Kappas flip flapjacks, and all the fraternities back their chosen ladies for queen. In short it is a week of fun, and for a good cause.

BONDS OF FRIENDSHIP WEEK

LADIES
REST ROOM

Each Monday there's a rush
Downhill, and then a hush
As 'round the candle goes
To light the tell-tale blush.

No longer now it hides
But proudly it resides
Beneath her dainty pin
All this and HIM besides.

The brothers, 'ere too long
Assemble sixty strong
And while the flashbulbs blaze,
They hail her with a song.

Four times this year students thronged to hear D.C.G.A.—sponsored concerts by these famous stars. (right here in River City?!) they were not disappointed: performers Carolyn Hestor, Ian and Sylvia, Peter Nero, and the Supremes shown as they hold their audiences spellbound.

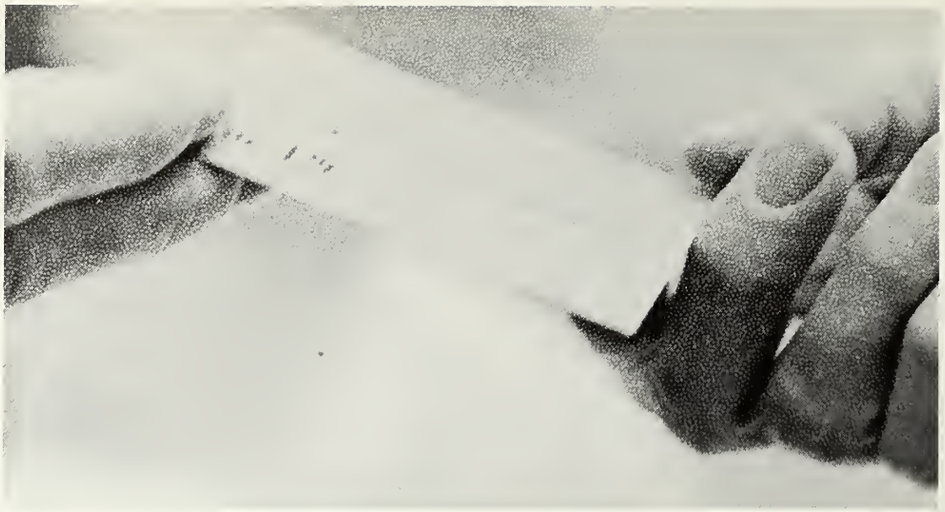

New this year is the overwhelmingly successful Celebrity Lecturer series. Outstanding personalities David Brinkley and Dick Gregory as they present their views and meet later with students for stimulating discussion. A brainchild of Rules Chairman Doug DeRusha, the series promises to counteract complacency and to open up new vistas of thought on campus.

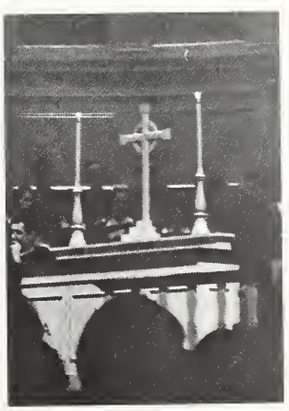

The chapel bells peal and the student body flocks toward Swasey for an all-school convocation or for chapel, depending on the hour and the day. Other times and other places they gather for every imaginable kind of learning experience: all this and convo credit, too!

The EXILE

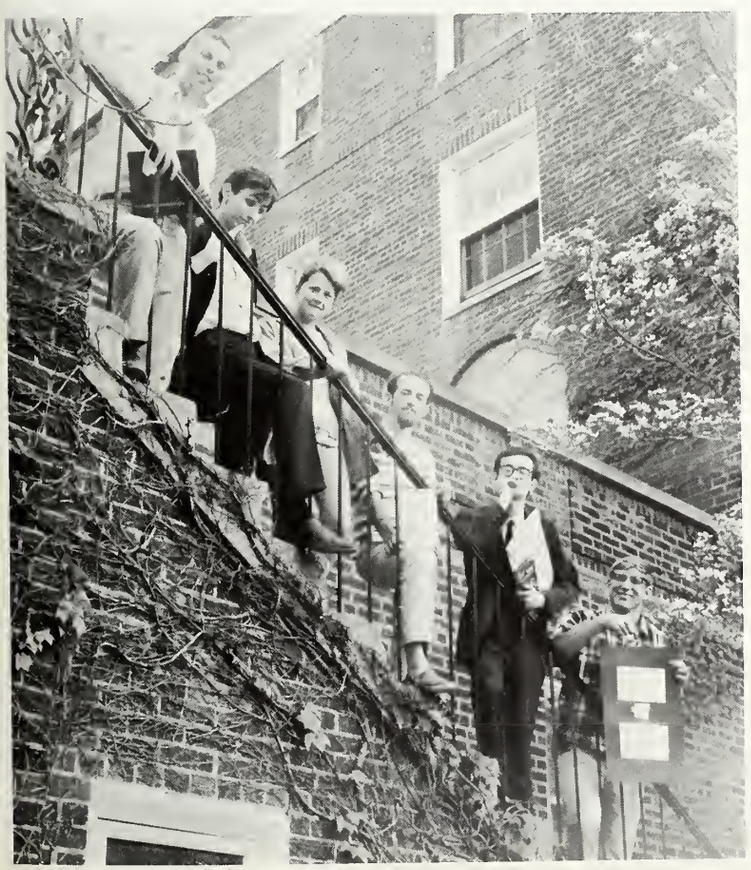

Blended with three parts water,
One part clay and a twist of faith—
Most prefer to drink their cosmos
In a plastic shot glass;
Then there are those that add
Cubes of the eternal verities.

mot -i- ve

My age, beast! Who now can stare you in the eyes and with his blood
glue together the backbones of two centuries?
The blood that builds gushes from the throats of earthly things;
the spineless sits on the threshold of new days.

James Boyle, Co-president; Linda Whitney, Co-vice-president; Marilyn Naish, Co-president; Phil Hickman, Co-vice-president.

"The Denison Campus Government Association functions through the Senate, the Womens' Council, the Judicial Councils, and Auto Court"—Denison Catalog.

For the past year stalwart Co-presidents Jim Boyle and Marilynn Naish have stood at the tiller of our "Denison ship of state," and have guided the campus through the treacherous waters of the Deferred Rush and Drinking questions, the Adytum Controversy, and the drafting of a new Constitution. It is through these organizations and their leaders that the student body rises with responsibility to meet the challenge of our freedom and authority in campus affairs.

The 1965 football season marked the return of the "T" and free wheeling football to Deeds Field after three years of the single wing offense. Coach Piper elected to return to the "T" to add a little "ginger" to the game. The result: an average of 328 yards per game; an average of 22 points per game; and renewed student support in the stands.

Though under pressure having no home ice and being forced to travel on a tight schedule, this year's hockey team came through with a winning season. Their record stands 5-4-2. This standing earned them a fourth place league rating, a defeat by Toledo, the champions, holding them from a third in the play-offs.

Coach Bill Preston recounted the quality of team play, personal effort and experience which he feels will be of tremendous value again next year. "We didn't have a winning season, but we had a successful season," was his summary. He commended all the players on their work this year and looks forward to reaping more victories in 1966-67.

In three years of Denison hockey, George Parks proved himself to be a fine competitor and smart playmaker and a key to the team's success. He had courage, endurance, and drive. Teammates and opponents alike will remember George for the clean yet aggressive hockey that characterized the great spirit he brought to all sports—Coach Bill Preston.

SWIMMING

A prize dive!

The Big Red had virtually all of its top performers from last year returning for the 1965-66 season, and turned in a creditable 7-6 record.

High point of the year was the Ohio Conference Relays. Denison took the Relays Championship in a tough battle with Wittenberg, who had won the meet two years running.

Denison finished third in the Ohio Conference Championship, with Hugh Wilder and Rick McBurney taking gold medals in the 100-yd. backstroke and the 200 yd. butterfly respectively.

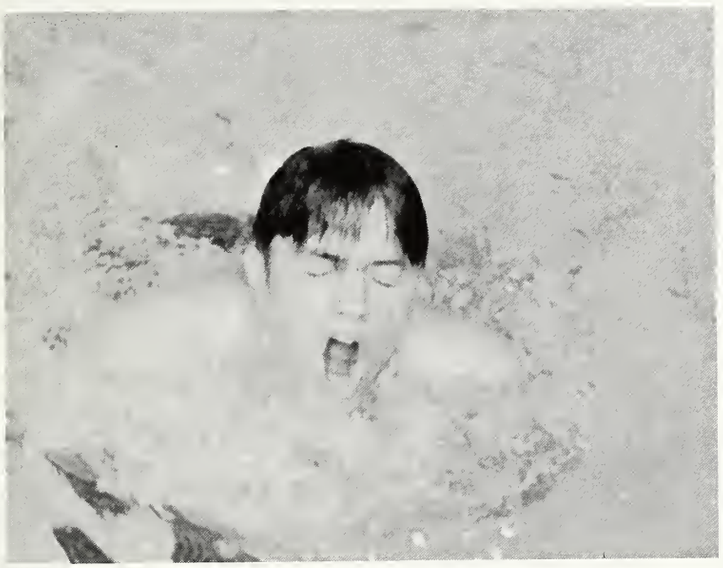

Two of the tankers were named All-Americans for their efforts in the NCAA Championships: Wilder in the 100-yd. backstroke and McBurney in the 200-yd. butterfly.

The Big Red basketball team finished the season with a conference record of 8-5, and an over-all record of 10-6. This year's team captains were Bob "Colonel" Johnson and Sam Pratt. Bob "Major" Johnson was voted the most valuable player and Bill Druckemiller was selected the most improved player.

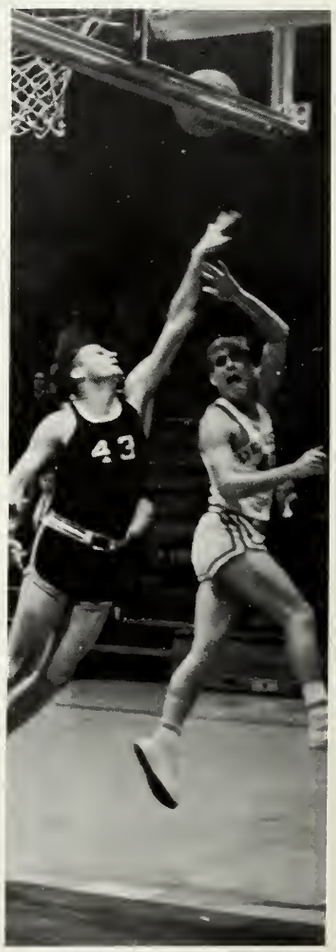

For Coach Scott, this year's team has been the best to work with. It was a well balanced team which played well under pressure. Among its many satisfying accomplishments was a victory over Wittenberg, a team who had remained unbeaten by Denison for ten years.

A triumphant jaunt through the South during Spring vacation highlighted the 1966 Lacrosse season. The lone loss of the season was to Ohio State, who went on to take the championship of the Midwest Lacrosse Association, with Denison the runner-up. The stickmen closed the season with four consecutive victories on the home field to extend the Denison home winning streak to 41 games. The awards went to John Beatson, Most Valuable Player; Al Burnet, the George Parks Memorial Defenseman of the Year; and Hal Beckwith, Most Improved Player.

Although the Big Red golfers had a disappointing 8-7 season, they burned up the links for the big match, the Ohio Conference Championship. The Conference trophy was returned to Granville with a 635 team score, edging out Kenyon's Lords by two strokes.

Even with Pete Stocker and Cal Gauss graduating this year, the prospects for next year are excellent. Next year's team will sport six returning lettermen, captained by Al Lewis. The nucleus of the team will be Al Lewis, Fenton Davison, most improved player, John Corbett, and Joe Gavazzi with the capable support of Bob Hastings and Sandy Stowe. Hopes are high for the Championship in 1967.

The Big Red netmen went into the O C tournament with an 11-2 record overall and six straight victories. The "swingin' team" came through the tournament with a fifth place. Mike Barr came home with a first in the first singles bracket, Mike Barr and Ken Booth took the first doubles and freshman, Craig Dripps took third in the second singles division. The only comment Dick Scott had was, "The whole season was rained out."

Stretch to get over that hurdle!

The season was not successful as a whole, but there were many outstanding individual performances as seven new records were set. Participating in the assault on the record book were hurdler Evan Patterson, pole vaulter Jon Warner, distance runners John Rudisill and John Jamieson, and relay men Jim Stewart, Dave Budzinski, Jim Dreyer, and Dave Duggins. John Rudisill was chosen as the most improved player and co-captain Evan Patterson was elected the most valuable player.

Next year's coach will be now assistant Coach Piper, replacing Coach Shannon, who is going to coach at the University of Beirut, Lebanon next year.

Up and over.

Hit the ball—then run.

The count's three and two!

Swing!

Led by the hitting of first baseman Bill Kocher, who was nominated for All-Conference and All-District, the 1966 Big Red baseball team sloshed to a 7-6 season, having their first winning season in five years. Kocher also achieved the highest batting average—.319—and Kim Brown turned in the lowest ERA at 1.42. With seven games rained out, the Big Red team never had a chance to develop their potential. With 14 lettermen to return for next year's season, Coach Stennet's prospects are bright.

Scholarship, service, and unhampered, downright fun—these were the components of the greatest year ever for AOPi. 1965-66 was so jam-packed with activities that it will take two scrapbooks to cover everything we did! The basis of such a wonderful year was The Best pledge class we've had—enthusiasm, bounce, and hard work (did the actives ever believe the stuff the pledges came back with on that impossible scavenger hunt during Help Week??) —they were a valuable addition to the Alpha Om's. With them, we planned the many successful teas, breakfasts, and desserts for professors and visiting alums, and contributed to many charities through the philanthropic committee. (One of the first events of Annie Unverzagt's presidency was an auction within the chapter, to increase the building fund . . . How about Tara's face when she bid all the items sky-high and then got stuck with them? Very generous of her . . .) Of course, there was the usual round of parties and socializers—yet this year the parties were far from usual ones. Fall Parties at Spring Valley with charcoaled steaks and guitar-music; Christmas Parties with professors and big, hulking guys playing with Superballs and blowing bubbles; and it's about that Yellow Brick Road (the front walk) from Pledge Formals—will the paint ever come off? Spring Weekend and "snow" in April, causing a malady known as Spring Fever, with symptoms shaped like pins and rings . . . Trivia Department; What about those late night cut sessions during rush, and Chairman Barb Ruhe's classic comment, "Ladies, PLEASE! I'm not going to lose my voice tonight!" Merry Sayles had us dancing our feet off for Novelty Parties and chasing all over Newark for "shoe-stickum" so we wouldn't break our necks . . . Barb Wendnagel, song chairman, gets a medal for her pumping hand . . . The Alpha Phi's were on the move. Rushers logged mileage from door to floor and from floor to floor. Sandy sure made that trip from Newark in a hurry. The pledges stormed the Phi Bastille for equal rights. Active hostages were taken a few weeks later at Jack's, during a moment of weakness; not to be outdone, the actives retaliated and gave the pledges plenty to think about during Inspiration Week. The active chapter finally surrendered on February 19 at 4:30 a.m. Costumes were worn by all.

We remembered New Orleans and a swingin' Bourbon Street at Fall Parties with the House of the Rising Sun. In contrast to this bash, the pledges made a genteel return to the Old South for their pledge formal. Some of the graciousness, however, was diminished by the sophomores' "professional" entertainment.

The pig was discovered in the Granville Inn's Wine Cellar, signifying that it was again time for Ye Olde English Dinner. A good time was had by all, including the pig, who got his tail kissed.

More prosaic activities included journeys from the library to Doane to the Union to Fellows to Life Sci. to the Union to Talbot to the Union. But it was hard to keep them "up on the quad," for the house offered a piano, a well-stocked cupboard, and the warmth of a fire and friendship.

A T Ω

At the Tau Lodge this year the word's "New House," as the brothers have done everything but carry the bricks to get it up faster. All year there's been a steady flow of Tau's to Fraternity Circle to watch it grow. Lars Larsen and Jerry Lugger have even made it out of the library long enough to take a quick look on occasion.

To prepare for living in a new house, the Tau's have been developing certain characteristics necessary for Fraternity Row. One of these is jock-ability, best expressed by Johnny Hamm, who used to specialize in falling down stairs. He once practiced his fore-arm smash for the actives, but unfortunately wasn't playing ping-pong at the time, and Mike "Warm" Conant now has an air-conditioned closet.

Like all good Fraternity men the Tau's like their booze, and have a special preference for the Shoe and Slick A Go Go Girl, and special friend of "Warms." Unfortunately, so do Newark "Townies," and one night Ken Bush's car came out second best with its convertible top perforated.

To enhance our image, the ATO's have their own public relations man Ron Rakowsky, who knows everything and everyone on campus (There are even suspicions that he learns about D-day before the DCGA President). He has earned the nickname of "Radar," because of his unique ability to reach the scene of a fire before the Granville Fire Department which wouldn't mean so much, except that he doesn't have a car.

With contributions of men like these, the Tau's feel they are well prepared to take their spot on the Circle and hold their own with everyone else.

ACC

The American Commons Club, also known as the Ack-Ack House, sits across the street from a not-too-lively cemetery. But that burying-ground's deadness pales before the liveliness in the fraternity house. Its halls still bear the streaks from the races in the wheelchair from Room 2. Its lower halls and dining room were flooded when, one fine night, "Dickie-Poo" started a two-hour water fight that even Chancellor von Heer couldn't stop. It has been attacked from within by the Scarf (ACC's home-grown Wingless Angel), Knife, and Qwakba, and from without by two painting pledges (from another fraternity), who were painted in return.

There are sane things that go on there, it is true. Like the mass Batman viewings (convo credit?). Or the Christmas Party, with pajamas and Santa. Or an academic average of 2.65. Or the traditional Fowl Ball for the forty-ninth anniversary. Or the third-place Homecoming float and "Scarface," the second-place Ugly Man.

But liveliness almost always wins, usually at the expense of Chancellor von Heer, who was (1) set on fire by "Frog," (2) hypnotized by his roommate "Hultoon," and (3) rolled down-hill (backwards) in his wheelchair. Then there's "Shev," who started the year out right by getting drafted. "Bubbles," also known as Fishelman of Arabia, fought nobly against the evil imperialist "Zor."

Yet somehow the pledge class, managing to stay intact throughout, tended at times to outshine these antics. In their pledge revolt-prank in Granville, "Nilknarf" and "Worthwood" both had the honor of being picked up by state troopers. "Schreibs," in a sober moment, ran over to do his Friday morning wake-up duties—Thursday night. And as for "Sleen," attacked by trees, and "Stewed," who just got lost for three days—they're stories in themselves.

In short, all those who admire the beautiful view from the rear of the house should remember that the rear is really the front, and that some who view it may not be quite sane.

"Peacemaker" Dave Heer is greeted with water as he tries to negotiate during the "great water gape."

The 1965-66 year has been a successful one for Alpha Eta of Beta Theta Pi. Intramurals under the direction of Pete Stocker have provided an area for physical release after the mental exertions of academic efforts. Dan Heekin has been responsible (or notorious) for the chapter's social activities, highlighted by the Christmas party with Bob Walker acting as a Santa Claus unequaled in Alpha Eta's history.

Other less organized activites have spread far the name of the chapter. Leaders in this area have been Bob Chisholm and George Schudy in their expeditions on the Blue Beast (a 1952 Harley Davidson) with the ever-present Carp running behind. The Beta Table in the Union, scene of innocent (and not so innocent) between-class chatter is now under the direct supervision of Don O'Connell and Ken Booth since the widely renowned Mort Cook graduated in February. Down at the Granville Opera House, either Steve Rose or Bush Bailey can be found most any night collecting tickets or reviewing films. The Beta house is also the campus supplier of Christmas trees, if anyone is interested.

These are just a few ways in which Alpha Eta's have influenced campus affairs. There is much more to come this spring, since that is the time for the Beta War and Spring Weekend, but the infamy surrounding those events will have to be related by a later reporter.

On Mcnday, February the twenty-eighth, Barb Manbeck was placed at the helm as the junior class relished the thought of first servings at chapter dinners, soft cushioning during rush evaluation sessions, and (shudder) the senior show at pledge formals. And, like a true politician, Barb uttered her first official order of the day: "Could I have a clean-up committee?"

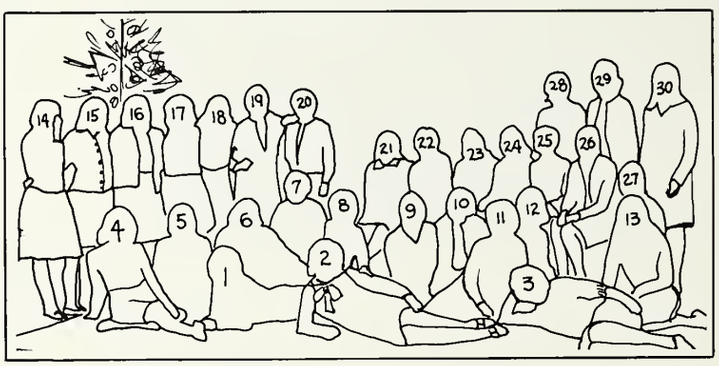

This is not reflective, however, on the quality of the past regime. The Stevens clan had performed admirably—President Pat with her psychological background (more Charlie Brownian than Freudian), Mr. Stevens with his clean jokes (for dirty minds) on Dads' Day, Mrs. Stevens with the fact she did have to give a speech on Mothers' Day, and sister Sue being groomed in the office of pledge class president. Thus, rather than advocating a "clean sweep," the juniors' cry may be more authentically distinguished as a robust "Once more—with feeling!"

Rush started off the year with its usual chaotic bedlam—at least from a surface viewpoint. Toni Woods provided her own novelty show (and a new song) and who would have believed that "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue" would have ended up with a "Smile"?

Well, it did. a fine "untypical" (in the true DG tradition) pledge class made the two weeks on "the other side" entirely worthwhile—if not over. But President Stevens had plans—big plans. She introduced the chapter to her "baby"—a one armed bandit of a ditto machine. With the machine came leisure time. Thiele's costume demonstration (everything but Batman outfit), and a discussion of other campuses by those who had been—and returned.

But these diversions did not entirely demolish controversy. What about the DG garbage problem? Who ate all of Mrs. Spencer's cookies? Who went to the last socializer (it may have been)? And the senior show . . . who would have thought that such nice girls . . . ?

A clean-up committee? Nothing, really, to clean-up. As the seniors, like those before, turn over their notebooks, all that can be heard into the distance is a steady tramp, tramp, tramp . . .

We, the brothers of Delta Upsilon, as mature men, seek to help our young pledges develop into leaders of unquestionable character. This year, as every year, we have succeeded.

A carefully planned program was developed for the pledges, and we still can't understand why they thought they had to escape on a co-ed pledge revolt. Hell Week is our real pride. Instead of solely uncreative physical exercise, "Pooh" instructed his boys in games like "Elephant Walk" and "Ice Cube Races," essential to a liberal arts education. Penetrating questions arose, like, "Sir, do we also get 'Coke Breaks' in the Union?" The entire phase of pledge growth was a success, highlighted in a bang of a Pledge Formal.

The pledges can learn a lot from us, the actives. Concern about world affairs? Look at the Viet Cong Wars frequently erupting in the house. Justice? If Bemis isn't pinned, we'll settle with sticking him in the water fountain instead of throwing him in Ebaugh's Pond.

However, the truth is, certain things must be hidden from the pledges. What good would it do if they knew who stole Dirty Bill's truck and parked it down at Ebaugh's Pond? Might they not misinterpret the mass of humanity pressed against the windows at the back of the house and yelling "blood!", "kill!", and "crazy!", as a brother speeds over the snow to fly up and over the toboggan jump?

So, as Dirty Bill's truck disappears over the horizon, let us not be distracted from our single goal of developing our pledges into leaders of unquestionable character.

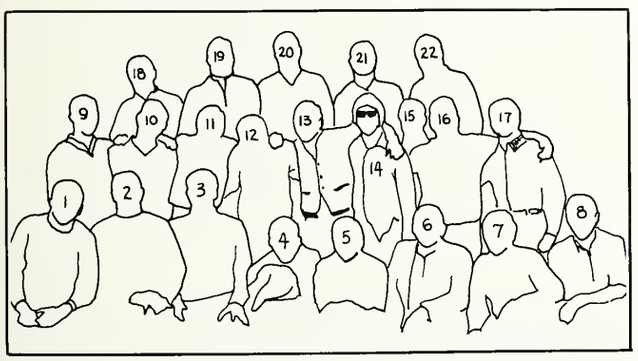

Go, D.U!

Away from the bustle of the circle, the brothers of Kappa Sigma enjoy the sedateness and tranquility of the Licking County countryside. A few afternoon steps down the hillside bring us to the Kappa Sig tennis courts; a few evening steps through the valley and up another hillside and we are on the women's squad.

Or we might take an autumn stroll down to the Natural Bowl to see Denny Price, the Kappa Sigma National "Hard Luck Football Player of the Year," in action. Denny moved up from his position of Ohio Conference Scoring and Rushing Leader last year to a vital position on the bench this fall.

A winter slip takes us to the gym to see the Colonel give his foul shooting a unique approach.

Inside the walls of the country place, the Seniors have given the house renewed spirit and desire for achievement through their inspired leadership. Cal Gauss is efficiently completing plans for a shrine to the local Greek god. The shrine will be erected when Stalzer achieves total immortality.

Sociological scholars can see no correlation between the limited size of the Junior Class and the influence and leadership it has exerted on campus.

The Sophomores have had growing influence on both the house and the campus. Even final exams did not slow them down.

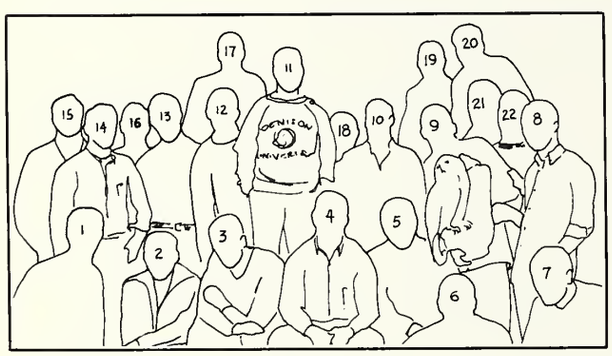

To the Freshmen has been opened the mystical world of fraternity life. Despite their novelty on campus, they have made contributions. The house has never been cleaner.

1965-66 was the year the Choppers were up there up tight and out of sight . . .

As early as the pledge party some of the pledges were initiated into the ways of the chapter. Led by "Anonymous Jeff Burhop" and the only Capt., they brought a test case before the Newark Courts to see if it really was illegal to have twelve in a sports car. (It was.)

The Toga party was grape affair—and everybody got a punch out of it—except for the officer who arrived at 12:00 to suggest that Brother Schadler not paint the floor grape. We have a standing invitation never to return—except for the Constable who would like to see Brother Canning about the custom job he did on his paddywagon.

Another long-standing tradition is the demolition party—with seven brothers—Arns, Ross, Baus, Swan, Robbie, Tony, and Tim, all warming up with private pre-parties at Whistler and Hemlock Auto Wrecking. The party is still in the future, but crashers have already cost us $5,250.

Attempting to show the pledges the true nature of our Christian fraternity, Hell Week was highlighted by the Chi O's, the Sycamore Service, and Jurisprudence Night, when appropriate penances were assigned to those who had deviated from the ideals of the Bond. Our special thanks go to the Phi Gams for the props they supplied for Hell Week, and for the offers from the recording studios after the spontaneous 4:00 serenade.

That was the year 1965-66, and in the words of Snerdly Hashfinger, who finally came, goodbyeee . . .

Contrary to popular belief, the Phi Delt House is not the original Talbot Hall, but was built fifty-two years later in 1924. Within the four floors and guy-wired walls of the Lodge there lives a group of brothers who excel in all they do. They are renowned for their social adroitness, their campus leadership, their I M's, their spirit, and last if not least, their scholarship.

Within the house there are forty-two varsity letters, two head-residents, five junior advisors, vice president of DCA, Senate treasurer, DCGA treasurer, and two members of the Ballentine Literary Society.

Besides the normal round of parties, "going over for one," and wrestling matches, there were many events that may have profound effect on the future: comps for seniors, Gerb's piloting the cushions and subsequent free-fall down the stairwell, some open kitchens, the Miami Triad. The Russians finally came, and the eel skin finally proved to be smooth.

Look, Ma, no cavities!

We Fiji's, after much toil, let ourselves go, . . in fact we went so far as to allow George Schuba, the official Phi Gam architect, to carry through with his plan to build a spectacular new addition for our house, patterned in the adobic style of the Columbus Greyhound Bus terminal. We wish brother Schuba were here now to watch our new addition as it slowly rolls towards Deeds Field.

As fall approached and the leaves turned brown, so did Pete's head. Brother "Steakface" Bulger successfully weathered Hurricane Betsey, and Bobby "Bandstand" Howarth finally fell in love . . . "Down will come Bobby, cradle and Hall." Phi Rho Schmegma maintained its dubious distinction as the social honorary in the new addition, at the expense of Kinche's accume and a bathroom wall. The new discotheque sensation Reltney Garbongo and the Bunion-Blasters reached their peak on their first "gig" and then hung up their "shades" for another year.

Hardy, Wils and "Grundoon" Successfully re-entered society, with the help of "Glue and Robo Anonymous" and celebrated by re-instituting the old pagan "festival of the shattering windows," once so popular in the Phi Gam kitchen. Coops got fat, but he is still "cool" . . . or so he was heard to say. Sammy received a warning from National Headquarters concerning his "Mad Jack" in continuing the custom of "scruffy cultivation" seems to have the "Barnyard Award" all "rapped."

We have found that the concepts of "I.M. Victory" and "Hangover" are still mutually exclusive, although we do have several outstanding I.M. and Varsity "Jocks." Gibby Gibson is still too much on the mats . . . "don't ever die Gibby."

Phi Gamma Delta would like to extend its great "purple arm of brotherhood and compassion" to all those outside of its halls (including Harry's Motorcycle Shop and DCGA) in the hope that we may all become a part of the "upward march of humanity."

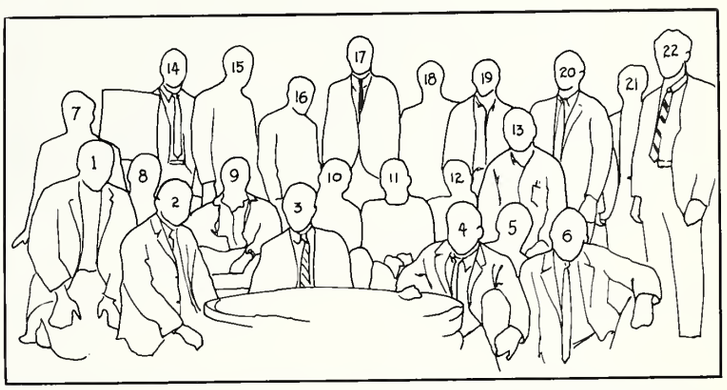

Gibby Forever!

No, of course I wouldn't take advantage of you.

The Pi Phi's acquired a new image in the fall when, for the novelty parties, they discarded their trusty "angel suits" (bed sheets wrapped toga-style) and donned the best finery of the Goodwill. The new novelty party, based on the "Dogpatch" theme, was one of several questionable innovations during rush, including a major casting charge just 24 hours before the performance began. One of the tunes from that show, "I'm Past My Prime," has since been deemed worthy to be the theme song of all Pi Phi seniors.

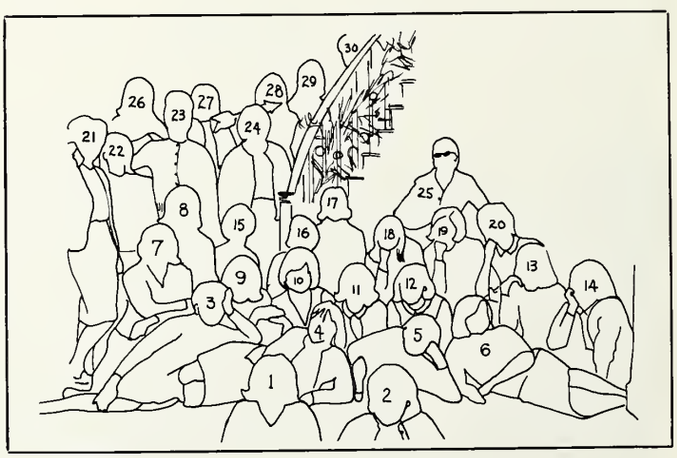

Shades of the wine and silver blue were evident this year not only in the Pi Phi rush "uniforms" but on the faces of the pledges following a Happiness Week dinner. A kind of primitive contentment shone on the face of each pledge as she, without the use of her hands, delved into a plate of vivid blue spaghetti covered with a healthy portion of wine-colored meat sauce.

In like fashion, the Pi Phi's showed their true colors during the Christmas season. As was only right and proper, Santa Claus was more jolly than usual at the Pi Phi Christmas party and he, in turn, encouraged them all to imbibe in the appropriate Christmas cheer.

The actives were once again "in the bag" when, at the close of a Huffman meal, the pledges pounced upon them, slipped pillow cases over their heads, and yanked them to various parts of the campus. This action was preceded only by a small warning on a siren whistle blasted (as who isn't?) through the dining hall. Such raucous behavior served as the pretentious beginning of a fake pledge revolt. On the proposed weekend of the real revolt, the pledges were finally outsmarted by the actives, who initiated them.

The wine and blue were slightly off-color during pledge formals, but redeemed themselves on that sunny Saturday in February, initiation day. The Pi Phi chapter, with an additional 21 new actives, gathered that evening at Cambrian Hills Country Club to properly conclude the events of the day.

Just as memorable an occasion was the Pi Phi senior farewell dinner, an annual Newark happening late in May. As tradition bid, each Pi Phi senior raised her glass in tribute to the four years now completed and emptied that glass to the years to come. At that moment, it was said, the wine left the blue behind.

ΣAE

The Ohio Mu Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon was installed at Denison University in 1919. Since that time we have been flourishing under the watchful eye of Minerva, the patron goddess of SAE, who for the last ten years has manifested herself in the form of Hazel, the fraternity cook. Because of Hazel's culinary inspiration to jockularity (and contrary to the prevalent rumor that we demoralized one of our neighboring fraternities by stealing their socks), the Brothers of Sigma Alpha Epsilon are now the holders of the coveted Intramural Trophy.

The SAE's have also distinguished themselves academically on the Denison campus. For the last two years, the president of the history honorary has been an SAE. The interest of these brothers in history, the most popular major field at Denison, is so strong that after several meetings of the history honorary, it has been necessary to literally carry them away.

Socially, too, the SAE's traditionally lead the campus. This year, however, our spirits were slightly dampened because of the untimely death of brother Paddy Murphy shortly after he went berserk during a strenuous work-out at the Guild Athletic Club in Columbus.

The Brothers of SAE live in a house on fraternity circle somewhere between the Phi Lodge and the hole that is to become the ATO house—depending on how strong the wind from the west is blowing.

Thus, we are the Brothers of Sigma Alpha Epsilon—athletic, scholarly, socially-inclined, and slightly overweight.

The men of Number One Fraternity Row do not lead the campus in everything . . . We must admit, there are some departments where we simply can't measure up. We are quite lacking in nicknames. Our pledges cannot box. We only have three levels in our house. We don't have a mascot flea. And, finally, we have never been asked to sing during women's rush. Despite our shortcomings, however, we feel we have men who can represent the Ranch with distinction.

Brothers Crash and Scurv have carried the Blue and Gold in the classroom, valiantly recognizing that there is a time for work and a time for play, and the well-rounded student must mix the two judiciously. Also helping us out in this department were Jake, Choo-choo, and Wheels (who also had to devote some of his time to his "job" at the Pure Station).

But what is a fraternity without athletes? We have been fortunate enough to have men like Squirrel, Sword, and Smitty to offer a living testimony to the importance of being physically fit. To say the least, their example has inspired each of us to work just a little bit harder at his chosen sport.

Yes, we of Sigma Chi are proud of our men, but we must not fail to recognize those who work behind the scenes. We have all profited by our close relationship with the Mothers of Sigma Chi. This relationship, so poignantly described by Brothers Willard and Falcon, cannot be justifiably put on paper.

Jeff Whitman, Sophomore Executive; Tom Schneider, Sergeant at Arms; Tiny Thoburn, Head Waiter; Jim Rogers, Treasurer; John Beatosn, Pledge Trainer; Dave Matheny, President.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This past year has been varied and interesting-filled with all sorts of controversies (the ADYTUM included) but for me, it has been the most profitable of all my years spent here. I'd like to thank all of the staff and especially my editors for helping me make this 1966 ADYTUM possible.
